THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.

No monarch, in ancient or modern times, has enjoyed more the affection of her subjects than the Queen, who so effectually reigns in the hearts of her people that, no matter how divided on political or party questions they may be, they are all of accord in their love, their esteem and their respect for Her Majesty. Her throne, by her long and exemplary reign, is lifted high above the contentions of politicians, or even the attempts of revolutionists.

The remarkable brilliancy of the Egyptian campaign last year has shed a fresh halo on Her Majesty's reign, illumined as it is by some of the proudest and most memorable events in our history; and the wondrously increased growth, root and position of the great Liberal Party, under the leadership of Mr Gladstone, gives still greater effulgence to the reign of Queen Victoria, which we all hope and trust will continue for many, many years, directing, consolidating and ruling the great and glorious destinies of the nation.

Co-equal in importance with the rise and progress of the English liberal party, is the increased temperance of the people, as evidenced by the greatly diminished consumption of spirits and ale and porter throughout Great Britain and Ireland during the last year. Viewed from afar, English politics often assume a peculiar hue, and to many of us out here, who study these matters, intemperance and pauperism give color to almost every trouble and burning question that afflicts our native land. We have neither time nor inclination, on an occasion like the present, to discuss those political troubles which, most people will admit, have their origin in widespread pauperism and its kindred cause, but we are fixed in our faith that the increased sobriety of the people is destined to be worked out by the liberal party, spite of the efforts of an opposing party so discreditably linked with the interests of brewers and distillers.

We salute Her Majesty on this her 64th birthday, and trust that Providence will long spare to our country the model woman, mother and queen who, now for 46 years, has so wisely and so happily filled the British throne.

For twenty-three years we have had the annual satisfaction of saluting the glorious anniversary of South American Independence. Like all very great subjects, the independence of this continent has offered a prolific theme to the many writers of the day; all the literature that has been lavished on the memorable 25 de Mayo of 1810 has failed to make the theme threadbare or to sound the inmost depths of a fact, which entailed the transformation of one of the fairest parts of the globe.

For twenty-three years we have coupled the gigantic annual growth of this country with the great anniversary; each 25th of May has marked a further step in the ladder of progress of the Argentine Republic; the steps have been uneven, close together in childhood, now wide apart as the development of the country spreads and each year, a unit in history, covers a larger sphere of action. The nation is speeding along the vast orbit of civilization with increased velocity. The prosperity of 1882 pales before that of 1883, and this year's will be eclipsed by that of the next, hidden in the womb of time.

The Argentine Republic advances to-day, torch in hand, at the head of all South American republics; providence has assigned to this fair country priority over all the sister republics. The men who rebelled against Spain in 1810 were great men; it required great men to realize the great dream of Independence. But great as they were, they never dreamt that the country they liberated would assume the rank it at present enjoys. Two generations after 1810 saw the Republic in the fangs of anarchy, creeping out of the clutches of despotism; twenty years ago nobody dreamt of the Argentine Republic becoming what it is.

The destiny of this country must be great, since the hand of Fate has raised it from every fall and out of every abyss into which civil wars plunged it. The chequered history of the past is a gloomy record of dissolution on all sides, caused by the errors of the people. Three years have not yet elapsed since the country was plunged into civil war, and the future looked as black as the clouds that reel before the 'pampero' blast in summer. Even then Argentines were in doubt as to the stable position of their great patrimony. Equilibrium was re-established by a concatenation of events, which seemed more likely to be the elements of ruin than those of salvation.

Time flies fast in the Plate—that great regulator of human affairs seems to speed on wings in the Argentine Republic. What appeared a dream yesterday, is reality to-day. All the clouds in the horizon have been dispelled by a magic wand—prosperity smiles on every side. Progress is felt in every corner and vitality stamps our advance. All our hopes, all our wishes are that this whirlwind of progress may continue with unabated velocity, that no stumbling blocks may rise to delay the march of the country.

Argentines can afford to laugh at the errors of the past, since they have left no gloom to shade the present or future; in spite of all their errors, the country is at the head of all its sisters and will continue to lead them, because it possesses a vitality which can only find a rival in the United States. With credit and with peace the Argentine Republic will astonish the world; under their aegis industries thrive and nations are happy; they are the two necessary motors of this country, and blessed as it is with all the bounty of nature, coupled with them, the future presents a dazzling horizon of prosperity.

Nations reflect their Governments, as light does its component parts; President Roca and his talented Ministers may feel proud of a prosperity which throws a bright lustre on their able government. A prudent and conciliatory policy has produced the most brilliant results; the Government meets with the support of all, and no brighter page can be found in Argentine history than this picture of peace, unity and prosperity. The 25th of May of 1883 smiles on a strong, prosperous and consolidated nation, full of hopes and led by men full of brains and energy. To gauge the present we must glance at the past—the contrast is striking; it is the electric light peering into cimmerian darkness—but to gauge the future, Argentines must look north of the line at the towering sister Republic, of which they are a reflection.

CATTLE ESTANCIA COMPANIES.

Cattle estancias seem to be so much the rage in Scotland and England at present that there is nothing very wonderful in the news that a well-known Argentine friend has just sold in London one hundred leagues of San Luis land, which he bought about a year and a half ago very cheap, tried to sell it here by auction, but missed to win, since now he has sold it in England, and at far higher price than any auctioneer could have obtained for him in this city. Many of the London papers publish amusing letters enough about these North American Ranch Cattle Companies, which are so much in vogue. Some of the new companies, as will appear by the following, have paid splendid dividends, but as far as we can gather in the sale of these Ranch Companies only the right to graze the cattle and not the land is sold, which makes a very wondrous difference from the way sales are made in the Plate, when the fee simple of the land is sold.

We take the following from the Times:—

A Glasgow correspondent points out that the last Land and Cattle Company which has been brought out is the 21st. undertaking of the kind which has been formed during the past 12 months, and that all of them have originated in Edinburgh. It is alleged that this rapid formation of companies is due to the apparent success of the "Prairie Cattle Company," which has paid one good dividend of 25 per cent. The fact of these concerns being multiplied to the extent mentioned should inspire investors with caution, even if they do not go further, and ask themselves how it is that such exceedingly flourishing undertakings should be offered so freely to the public by the vendors. The following letter is from another correspondent, who seems to think that some of them, at any rate, have been sold at prices which were too high:—

"Sir,—Having some acquaintance with American cattle ranching I shall be glad if you will permit me, through your columns, to warn the public that great caution should be observed with regard to investing in cattle ranch companies. Such a warning is necessary at the present time owing to the fact that flights of speculators have landed on our shores with the object of selling ranches to the British public.

"Now, there can be no doubt whatever that there are few better investments than well-selected and well-stocked ranches in certain States of North America; but it is not every Western State that is well adapted for cattle raising all the year round, nor is it more difficult in the ranching than in any other good business to buy at too high a price.

"Without wishing for one moment to doubt the "bona fides" of these gentlemen, I am in a position to assert that in nine cases out of 10 they ask a price for the properties they hope to sell from 20 to 50 per cent higher than they could obtain from their own countrymen, who, by the way, are investing largely in cattle ranches, but, needless to state, not at the price asked of the British investor. Small blame, however, to speculators and political economists for carrying their pigs to the best market.

"Certain ranching companies, whose shares are chiefly held north of the Tweed, have done, and will do, well; but the very points that have made these companies successful are conspicuously absent from the schemes of the majority of the gentlemen to whom I have alluded.

"To give weight to my warning, I will only further refer to the fact that, in several instances where directors of proposed ranching companies have sent commissioners to report on the properties before completing the purchase, these commissioners have, to put it mildly, reported adversely and the money has been returned to the lucky subscribers.

"The public have, so far, shown commendable caution in subscribing to cattle companies—a course which, if persisted in, will probably end by their being offered a good business at a fair price: but if, on the contrary they are led away by a cattle-ranch 'boom,' signs of which are not wanting, there can be but one result—bitter disappointment, and the discrediting of an admirable field for the safe and lucrative investment of British capital.

PROVINCIAL BANK REPORT.

We append several of the most important chapters of the report of the Board for 1882. It will be seen that the Bank has reaped great advantages from the funding of the National and Provincial debt. The situation of the establishment is most prosperous, but the profits of last year show a falling off, when compared with 1881; this arises from the fact that the judicial deposits in the bank have much diminished owing to the law that decreed the deposit of these sums, as far as this city is concerned, in the National Bank. The falling off in the profits must also be attributed to the great business the National Bank is doing. The former monopoly of the Provincial Bank no longer exists, but in spite of these facts, the operations of the Bank are gigantic and the report reflects a most enviable position.

Deposits—Comparing the private deposits at interest on the 31st December 1881 with those on 31st December 1882, and reducing them to a single monetary type, the increase is $2,902,278:85. This increase, as also that of 1881, is principally due to the relatively high rate of interest which the Bank has maintained during these years. In 1880 the average rate of interest was 3.42. These deposits on the 31st of Dec. 1880 amounted to $24,750,282, comprising 18,219 depositors.

In 1881 the average rate of interest was 4.78. The deposits were on the 31st Dec. 1881 $28,538,938, and number of depositors 19,680. In 1882 the interest remained during the year at 5 per cent; the deposits were $31,436,216, and number of depositors 22,617.

1882	Pesos fuertes
January 31st	28791019
February 28th	28754744
March 31st	28803137
April 30th	28965906
May 31st	28806924
June 30th	28805911
July 31st	28936842
August 31st	29124847
September 30th	29635523
October 31st	30771213
November 30th	31043251
December 31st	31436216

On the 31st December 1881 the commercial deposits were $7,607,705, and in 1882 $7,309,279, showing a falling off of $298,426. The withdrawals and deposits during the year were—

Withdrawal	$f.69,915,332.54
Deposits	70,213,757.81

The judicial deposits have fallen off during the year 1882 $1,421,279, same being deposited in the National Bank, which amounted to $1,200,000, corresponding to the jurisdiction of the Capital, and it is probable that these figures will even still shew a greater falling off during the present year, due to the same cause.

Taking as a basis the equivalent in gold of the circulation in 1878, and comparing the sum total at the end of each of the following years, there is a steady increase up to 1881; that of 1882 being only $509,340, and this owing to the delays in the transactions at the end of the year, and the notable increase in deposits during October, November and December. Adding them together in one monetary type, the circulation on 31st December 1882 exceeded that of 1881, by $509,304.

The ratio between circulation and the value of paper money has been constant during the year; paper was in demand in exchange for gold for its written value, and by this operation any further rise in the value of the paper was avoided, in order not to injure commercial interests.

Debtors—This account stood in a less favourable position than in 1881, having increased $764,000, although $579,400 were written off on this account. The amount carried to this account during the year is $3,160,000 against $2,045,081, and the amounts collected in 1882 $1,260,000 against $3,113,777 in 1881.

Government Credits—The consolidation of the Provincial Government Debt was given in the last Report, the Bank receiving $20,000,000 Public Bonds bearing 6 per cent interest and 1 per cent amortization. In March 1882 $10,000,000 of these Bonds were launched in London as a Foreign Loan through Messrs Baring Bros. & Co. at 92; deducting expenses and commission about 90 per cent was netted. This operation has indirectly favoured commerce, as the large amounts which were locked up were partly thrown on the market. The Nat. Government also funded all its debts, previous to the credits granted 25th September 1876. The Bank received 9,366,744 pats. in public bonds bearing 5 per cent interest and 1 per cent amortization, leaving a difference in favour of the Bank of 132,855 pats. arising from a difficulty with regard to the payment of compound interest. The Bank also received according to the arrangements made by the Nat. and Prov. Governments in the month of January of this year, Nat. Bonds to the amount of 6,633,254 bearing 5 per cent interest and 1 per cent amortization on account of the credit given in September 1876; a balance remained of 711,285 pats. due on capital, and 223,36 pats. due on interest at the end of 1882.

The following table will shew the changes effected in these credits in the two last years; it must be borne in mind that the Bonds of 'Deuda Interna' held by the Bank and amounting to 4,783,124 pats. were also converted into a foreign loan to be negotiated in London:—

Prov. Government	$10,822,694
Nat. do. credits previous to 1876	9,366,745
Do. do. Sept. 1876 credit.	6,633,254
Cancelled in bonds	$26,822,693

Thus an amount equal to the Bank's capital, which had been locked up to 1881, has been turned to account, placing the Bank in a most advantageous position.

Cartera—

December 31st, 1881	$34,037,946
Do. 1882	41,037,342
Increase	6,999,396

Profits—The profits of the Bank in 1881 amounted to $2,712,969 against $2,358,378 in 1882; the latter being distributed as follows—

Provincial Government	$ 300,000
Judicial returns	136,338
Written off, in Central	819,397
Do. Branches	219,391
Net capital	1,124,261
	$2,358,378

The profits of 1882 show a falling off of $f. 354,591 when compared with those of 1881. The change effected in the Government credits, the bank receiving bonds with a lower interest than that charged to the old account, and that of bonds with larger returns, have diminished the profits of the bank; this falling off is also occasioned by the withdrawal of large judicial deposits which only receive 4 per cent per annum, and also by the Reserve which is larger than in 1881.

I must observe that the account of the capital amounts to the same as in 1881. The fact does not affect the credit of the bank, if we look into the causes of same. The reductions made in the capital account were the following:—

	Pats.
8 per cent on Provincial Bonds at 92 o/o	800,000
1½ per cent Commission Messrs. Baring Bros. & Co.	150,000
½ per cent Brokerage	25,000
Printing, stamps etc.	16,373
Balance of interest to Nat Credits	132,856
Total	1,124,229

(From our own Correspondent)

ENGLISH OPERA AT DRURY-LANE.

(Concluded)

The instrumental prelude to the opera is about as sound a piece of effective instrumentation as one could hear. It was deservedly and vociferously encored; but it is made up of a pasticcio of the leading-motives—the murder-motive—the vendetta motive or "vocero"—the love-motive and the cantilena which accompanies the dying moments of Colomba. The prelude is short, and has on that account the dramatic defect of not being joined to the introductory scene. The Prelude is in F natural, and ends in the major with an abrupt chord. After a pause the opera commences in G natural major. One need not be over-orthodox in regard to consecretion of keys, to object to this as gratuitous, and it looks as if the abrupt close of the prelude was in view of a possible encore.

The opening chorus in the market-scene is quite of the ordinary type of Italian opera chorusses in similar situations. The melody is Neapolitan, and suggests reminiscences not of Auber, but rather of "Ernani" and "I due Foscari." The chorus is, however, deliciously harmonised, and most delicately and carefully written, in fact, too carefully, for the effects he intended as dramatic foil in that respect, and the chorus is frittered away by the division of the parts. This only shows want of experience, but, I am bound to say, that Mr. Mackenzie, with an inexhaustible flow of melodic passages, and a thorough appreciation of dramatic effect, is, in my opinion, neither a born melodist nor a true dramatist. Study and perseverance, and a thoroughly Scotch craving to succeed and to excel, have made him master of his art. He has penetrated the arcana of harmony, and possesses a practical knowledge of the orchestra through its whole compass. Naturally and happily, the melody of the English opera still lingers in his mind, while his inclinations lean to Italy, where he has long resided, and at whiles his ambition—should we say his vanity—turns him into imitations of the modern music-drama. He is deficient in humour, in warmth of colour and genuine passion, but, it shall be admitted, that no one can hear the murder-motive in "Colomba" and forget it. No one can hear the Prelude to that opera without feeling that here at least is an English instrumental work, short and unpretending as it may be, that must produce its due effect before any audience in Europe.

No one can listen to Chilina's simple song of warning to Orso, as she sees from the rock the assassin lurking behind the fence, or to Orso's love-song, "Will she come from the hill, will she come from the valley;" or to, in short, the whole of Act III, without opining that if these things are not all that a too critical and exacting auditor might have hoped, they approach wondrously near to originality and to the true drama.

I can say for Mr. Mackenzie's music that its power increases amazingly on a second hearing, but, to be just, it must not be imagined from that admission that his music is too deep to be easily understood. It is not deep, but it is good—excellent. Its amiable failing is that it seems to combine more excellent qualities than it really possesses; on that account "Colomba" is wanting in the truthfulness which makes that kind of representative opera we may yet expect from the same authors.

Mr. Hueffer and Mr. Mackenzie are, from an artistic point of view, still young men, even if in their repeated acknowledgments to an enthusiastic audience, as they bowed their massive heads, it could be seen that from the nape to the temples they were both as bald as coots.

The cast of the opera at "Drury-Lane" was this:—Count de Nevers (Governor of Corsica), Mr. Henry Pope; Orso della Rabbia (an officer in the French army), Mr. Barton McGuckin; Brando Savelli (a brigand), Mr. Novara; Guiseppe Barracini (a lawyer), Mr. Ludwig; Antonio (his brother), Mr. Wilfrid Esmond; Sergeant of Marines, Mr. B. Davies; Colomba (sister of Orso), Madame Alwina Valleria (Lydia, daughter of the Count de Nevers), Mdlle. Baldi; Chilina (daughter of Savelli), Miss Clara Perry.

Last night, on the second representation, punctually to the hour, and just as Mackenzie was about to raise his baton, Mr. Gladstone and his family entered one of the stage boxes. The audience stood up, and for two or three minutes continued to cheer vociferously. The grand old man, after acknowledging the greeting, stuck to his libretto, and followed with evident pleasnre, and, no doubt, some national pride, the first opera ever written by a Scotchman.

THE DYNAMITE PLOT.

The Press Association has received from the Home Office a copy of a circular marked "pressing," which is in course of issue from that office to the local authorities throughout the kingdom, directing their attention to the importance of exercising special and vigilant observation, with a view to preventing the acquisition by persons for unlawful objects, not only of explosives for such purposes, but of the materials with which if possessed of a little technical knowledge, they would be able to manufacture explosives. The circular included a memorandum drawn up by her Majesty's chief inspector of explosives, which enumerates the more important of the materials which are capable of being more or less readily applied to the production of explosives.

Mr. Walter Guy, of 2, Devon-cottages, Morning-lane, Hackney, a clerk in Central Office of the Telegraph Department, has made the following statement, which he has forwarded to the postal authorities. He has also been examined by the police officials:—"On Monday morning, the 2nd instant, as I was leaving Broad-street station about 9.30, I was accosted by a man (about 6 feet in height, of dark complexion, and with black moustache, whiskers, and beard), who asked me if my name was Walter Guy, and having been answered in the affirmative he then said that he had a friend just arrived from America who had some news of my brother there for me. I asknd him why he did not come himself with the news, when he said that his friend was very queer from the effects of his voyage, and had requested him to beg me to go to him. On the strength of this statement I accompanied him, and we went down the court which runs from Eldon-street to Sun-street; when about half way down the said court my eyes were suddenly bandaged from behind. I resisted, and said I should call for help, when they told me that if I made the least noise or attempt to escape they would have my life, at the same time placing what I thought was the muzzle of a revolver to my forehead. They then said they wanted me to answer a few questions and I should be released again, With this I went quietly with them; my eyes were bandaged with some kind of handkerchief which was covered with a shade like that which people with weak eyes wear—this I ascertained by once putting my hand up to the bandage. I was then led about 180 or 200 yards, as near as I can guess, and taken into a room in a house where they questioned me as to the whereabouts of the engine rooms and engines in the Central Telegraph Office, where I am clerk; also about the police on duty there—as to what time they changed duty and how many were on duty, etc. After answering some questions and denying any knowledge as to others, I had my hands bound behind me and was placed in a seat, and after again threatening my life if I made the least outcry, they left me until, as near as I can guess, about nine o'clock in the evening, when my hands were unbound and I was taken to a cart waiting outside, in the bottom of which I was made to lie down, and my hands were again bound behind me. After being carried what seemed to me a very long distance, I was taken into a house, as I suppose, where I was questioned in the same manner by some five or six persons, two of whom spoke with considerable American accent; and after answering several of their questions and denying my knowledge of others, one said. "We can't get much out of him," and I was again threatened and forced into another room, where I was kept prisoner until I should think about eight o'clock on Tuesday evening, when I was conducted out of the place and helped into a vehicle, which was driven some long distance, during which time some money, amounting to about 12s. 6d., was taken from me, and some tobacco emptied out of my pouch. My bandage was now taken off and my own handkerchief placed round my eyes and tied tight in knots. My hands were then unbound, and I was put over the back of the vehicle, with the expression that they had not got much for their trouble. I clung to the back of the vehicle, but was forced off and fell in the road, and when I had partially recovered from my fright and managed to unloose my handkerchief they had entirely disappeared. The place where I found myself was, I believe, Kingston-hill (I can point out the place, I am sure), and I hurried home to Hackney as quick as my exhausted state would permit, for I felt half-dazed, and my only thought was to get back once more to my friends. I arrived home about twelve o'clock at night, and Miss Clara Gee will give all particulars as to my state and condition on so doing. When I woke on Wednesday I found I had lost my power of speech, and did not recover the same until 7.30 on Saturday, April 14th."

Between eleven and twelve o'clock on Tuesday night a constable found a box, 16 inches by 14, close to Salisbury Cathedral. In the box was a bag containing explosives and a paper attached ready for ignition. A Central News Telegram says:

"The explosive substance found near Salisbury Cathedral has not yet been analysed. It presents the appearance of a whitish powder, and a small grain of it instantly exploded in the police office, making a hissing noise. The box is a wooden one and securely fastened with iron. Directly a light had been applied to the projecting pieces of paper an explosion would have occurred. The Cathedral is now closely patrolled by police."

The man Kingston, who was arrested in Bootle on Tuesday night, was removed from Liverpool yesterday afternoon. It is stated that he has been identified as a member of the first batch of Invincibles. Detective-Inspector Warrington and Detective Humphrey's arrived from Dublin yesterday, and left with their prisoner for the Irish capital by the 1.10 p.m. train from the Lime-street Station.

The disposition among the dynamite prisoners to tell tales upon one another has so much increased that, I am told, since Norman appeared as approver the question for the authorities has been who, if anybody, is to be removed from the dock into the witness-box.

The prisoners are all ready to turn Queen's evidence, and they might all be bought by a pardon; but the Home Secretary has hardened his heart, and he has determined to let nobody free whom he would hope to convict. In consequence, the feeling in the dock is growing very intense. Out of doors the same calm still prevails. I saw to-day the prison van passing from Bow-street to Millbank. Mounted constables, with drawn swords in their hands, galloping at a rapid pace, are unwonted spectacles in London; but they were regarded by an incurious mob simply as a spectacle, and hardly any movement took place along the route. The constables themselves seemed to be as indifferent as the populace, and evidently did not anticipate any attempted rescue, or any danger in the protection of their charges.

DEAD AND YET ALIVE.

THE TESTIMONY OF PHYSICIANS.

(Concluded.)

From the first, Dr. R. Fleet Speir, of 162 Montague-street, Brooklyn, has been Miss Fancher's physician. He has watched her case with unrelenting vigilance, and has made full memoranda of every symptom and every change. After she had declared that she could not partake of food, that it was nauseating and distasteful and worthless, he introduced nourishment through a silver tube. When she was to all appearance dead—pulsation gone, respiration gone, warmth gone—he worked over her and restored her. He has known of her wonderful physiological condition, and of her singular mental phenomena. One day he received a note from this curious patient warning him that an attempt was to be made to rob him. He paid not more than passing attention to it, but next day some one entered his house and took therefrom a valuable case of surgical instruments. When he has rung the door bell, Miss Fancher has almost invariably called out, "Aunt, please go down and let in the Doctor." Once or twice he has halted on the landing at the stair-top while some other visitor who accompanied him entered the room with Mrs. Crosby. Miss Fancher, after greeting the new comer, has said, "Why does the Doctor wait outside? Ask him to come in." She has been aware of his presence in the neighbourhood, and has told when he was starting from his Montague-street residence, a mile away from her, that he was going to call upon her.

It was Dr Spier who, in the earlier stages of Miss Fancher's illness, tested whether she had partaken of food by going in suddenly upon her and administering an emetic. The drug gave her much pain, while the result was convincing that the stomach was empty. The nature of the medicine was well known to Miss Fancher, although it had been carefully kept from her. This event was just before she went into the rigid condition that lasted nine years. As soon as she emerged from this condition into that of relaxation, three years ago, her memory of the happenings of nine years was gone, and she remembered only incidents of previous years.

So nine and a half years after the administering of the test, as Dr Speir entered the room, Miss Fancher broke out with:

"You thought I didn't know why you gave me that medicine, but I did. You wanted to see if food was in my stomach, and you learned that none was there. It made me feel very sick. You won't do so again, will you?"

Dr Speir was asked:

"Did Mollie Fancher ever warn you that you were to be robbed, and next day after you received the warning were you robbed?"

"Yes."

"Do you know of her doing many other equally extraordinary things?"

"I do."

"Do you think it possible for Miss Fancher to have deceived you?"

"I never detected the least attempt at deception; nor have I ever suspected that deception was practised by her. I am convinced that there has been no deception. At the same time please understand me that I am not a believer in supernatural things. I think there must be an explanation for every thing that happens upon this earth; possibly many of them are beyond our comprehension in the present condition of the world's enlightenment, but they are sure to be made plain in time."

"Is it true that Miss Fancher has continued for many hours in a condition resembling death, with no pulse and no breath?"

"Yes, it is. Her condition has been, I may say, most remarkable. But Miss Fancher's case I regard as a professional secret. She desires me not to talk about it, and I must respect and carry out her wishes."

"Is it true that she has not partaken of food in all these thirteen years?

"No; I cannot say that she has not. I have not been constantly with her for thirteen years. She may have taken food in my absence. Her friends have used every device to make her take nourishment. Food has been forced upon her, and artificial means have been resorted to that it might be carried to her stomach. Nevertheless, the amount in the aggregate must have been very small in all these years."

"You have considered the case of such extraordinary importance as to take many physicians to see it?"

"I have, and it has excited very much of attention. I have letters about it from far and near, and the medical journals have asked for information."

CAN SHE EVER DIE?

Miss Fancher's present condition is blindness, the eyelids closed, the pupils sightless and staring; laxity of body, save in her right arm that remains rigid and doubled as above described; inability to take nourishment, with no desire for it except at long intervals, when she puts a bit of fruit or candy in her mouth for a short time, and then rejects it; torpidity of the system, with sluggish pulsation and not vigorous respiration; cheerfulness, with increasing sensitiveness to being made the theme of public gossip, and to receiving strangers; enlargement of the heart and soreness of the ribs that were broken by the fall from a horse; rheumatic and neuralgic pains; frequent changes in bodily state, with tendency towards pulmonary troubles; power of speech and of hearing.

"There is nothing of me to die," she says.

Once, after a most deathlike trance, in which it required hours of vigorous efforts to restore her, she uttered:

"Why did you not let me alone? I think I might have died, had you allowed me to."

Before the accident she had been a worshipper in the Washington-street Baptist Church, and had there made a profession of religious belief. To those who have questioned, she has answered that her experiences in her sickness have simply strengthened her faith. She believes in a material heaven, with gates of pearl and pavements of gold. Her visions have ever been of the good and the pure. Asked whether she ever saw disagreeable persons or things, she answers that she shuns them. She has said that she desires to die that she may go to heaven.

Some of her friends have seriously said:

"If death is the parting of the spirit from the body, and if Miss Mollie's spirit has been released from the bondage of the flesh, can she indeed ever die?"

EDITOR'S TABLE

God save the Queen! This is Her Majesty's 64th birth anniversary. May she live to celebrate as many returns of the day as her millions of subjects, of all races, in every part of the globe, sincerely wish the best woman that has ever worn a crown.

To-morrow will be the National Day of our adopted country, and we cordially salute the People and Press of the Republic on the glorious anniversary. On no previous "Veintecinco" have the prospects of the nation been so brilliant. Long may they remain so.

The firmament on high yesterday looked preciously unlike "Queen's Weather" for the Southern Railway Sports to-day, or the Junior Athletics' to-morrow. Nevertheless, we hope for the best. The Clerk of the Weather is a monarchist; he always smiles on Royal fetes in Europe and always frowns on Republican ditto here. However, he is entitled to his political opinions, like the rest of us. Postscript, 5 p.m.—Southern Railway men have just telephoned us that their sports are postponed. Mud at Lanus too profound for anything but a rhinoceros race.

A very facetious subscriber remarked to us yesterday that it was rather a dry joke to publish our Packet Edition for the Gironde three days before she sailed. So it was, but the agents are in fault, for not giving earlier notice of the change in her date of sailing. In any case it is only one day's difference. Anything dry this damp weather, from a joke to a new subscriber, is most acceptable. We have only had two new subscribers since Monday, and both were wet to the skin when they entered our office.

We have received from Mr John Jones an exquisite ode to Buenos Ayres, in flowing Welsh, and want an interpreter to tell us what it is all about, before publishing it.

A Talented Ancestor—Von Kalkbrenner, the noted pianist, used to pride himself on the particle which preceded his name, and paraded it on every occasion. "Do you know," he once said to an acquaintance, "that the nobility of my family dates from the Crusades? One of my ancestors accompanied the Emperor Barbarossa ——." "On the piano?" asked the other.

The following distinguished gentlemen have been appointed as a Committee to collect funds for the starving people in Rioja and Catamarca:—President Sr D Antonio Cambaceres, Vice-President 1º Dr D Mauricio Gonzales Catan, Vice-President 2º Dr D Isaac Larrain; Tesorero, Dr D Eleodoro Danianovich, y Secretarios D Adolfo F Orme y Don Eduardo L Bidan.

Dr. Colbourne has removed from Calle Florida to a fine house at No. 211 Calle Arsina, where he will be glad to see his patients. There is nothing doctors are so glad to see as their patients—unless it be their fees.

We hope our subscribers always shut their eyes when they sneeze. Sneezing, like sleeping, is one of the few things, in life, which you should not do with your eyes open, otherwise the consequences may be fearful. A beautiful New York girl, who was engaged to be married, sneezed last month with her eyes open and one of them flew out on the floor. The "novio" is thinking of scratching himself for the Matrimonial Handicap.

There will be four brigades of troops in the Plaza to-morrow, commanded by Colonels Donovan, Fotheringham, Gil and Blanco. General Levalle will command in chief. The Iron Duke used to say that no General in the British Army but himself and Lord Hill could take 20,000 men into Hyde Park and get them out again in proper order. We have often wondered how any Argentine General can get one tenth of that number into and out of Plaza Victoria without inextricable confusion. It is an absurd place for a military show. When the two Plazas are thrown into one, things will not be quite so bad; but the proper place for the Independence military show is Palermo Park, where at least the regimental commanders have room to show off their men.

The Colon Theatre was full on Tuesday evening to hear La Juive, which was splendidly put on the stage. All the artists acquitted themselves splendidly, and the applause during the night gave unmistakable proof of the satisfaction of the public. Sr. Petrovitch made a great hit in the solo in the fourth act, and brought down the house.

"You grow more like your father every day," sharply exclaimed the mother, irritated at some slight misconduct of her seven-year-old boy. For three days after that the boy went to the looking-glass a dozen times to see if his nose was getting red like his father's.

A lady named Robles de Antonini has asked the Argentine Government for a subvention to start a Beneficent Society in Mercedes, B.O! This is cool.

There was a smash on the Southern Railway near Ayacucho the other day—a guard, the engine, two waggons, and several cows badly damaged.

Two souls with but a single thought. A married couple. Each wants to boss the other.

A whole family was poisoned the other day at Marcos Paz, and several members of it have succumbed. At first it was not known whether this truly terrible affair was accidental or not but the assassin has since confessed.

Every man is fond of striking the nail on the head; but when it happens to be his finger-nail, his enthusiasm becomes wild and incoherent.

Mr. Charles Castro, the eminent grocer, of 400 Rivadavia, sent round yesterday a nice 25 de Mayo offering, consisting of a match-box full of coffee, (enough to make a weak cup for a baby humming-bird) together with a pamphlet advising the public to buy their coffee and their chicory separate, and mix them themselves. We re-echo the advice, which holds equally good in the cases of sand and sugar, tea and willow twigs, pepper and sand etc. etc. After all, what's a grocer for, if not to save the public the trouble of mixing these ingredients in proper proportion? The wonder is to find a concientious grocer, like Mr Castro, who admits frankly that such things can be.

The Referee makes the rather sarcastic remark: "Who says that a school of dramatic art is necessary? Mrs Langtry has been on the stage a few months and she is now getting between £1,200 and £1,400 per week."

We heard an even bet made yesterday that the Nihilists will attempt and succeed in blowing up the Czar at his coronation. We don't believe that the villains will even make the attempt.

The beer fight between the great brewers Bieckert and Lagomarsino has ended in the discomfiture of the latter, with 250 pats fine, and the false Bieckert made by him to be spilt into the street.

We are truly glad to hear of the complete recovery of Mr. Seedorff, the well-known apothecary, who is now quite himself again, and attends daily at his 'botica.' His many friends will cordially join us in congratulating him on his restoration to health.

The German Choral Society in Rosario is to be revived. The new Committee includes Messrs. Muller, Zinder, Kriese, Hochsprung and Grietz, who are fully determined to revive the ancient splendour of the Society.

There was a large attendance yesterday at the British Cemetery at the funeral of Mr. James Fulton, thus showing the great respect and esteem entertained for the lamented gentleman. It rained heavily during the sad ceremony. The Rev. Mr. Robertson officiated.

"Absit omen!" During the drawing of the Lottery yesterday at Montevideo, the machinery broke down, and several of the stiffest prizes remained in the wheel.

Our fashionable colleagues publish a string of approaching marriages in High Life as long as a milliner's bill. We hope everybody concerned will live happily and die comfortably.

Colonel French, an Independence hero, 80 years old, died lately in Tucuman, and was interred with full military honours.

The Portuguese papers are suffocating with patriotic indignation at what John Bright said about their country in Parliament lately, and declare that, if Bright, Bradlaugh, Biggar, Brassey or any other man in Westminster ever alludes to them again in such unflattering terms, they will form an alliance with Spain and wipe England off the face of the earth. Poor England!

This is the use to which the telephone is put in Iowa, according to the Lyons Mirror: An eavesdropper "took this off" the other morning when the thermometer stood at ten below:

He (in Lyons)—Is that you, dearest?

She (in Clinton)—Yes, love.

He—Put the mouth-piece to your lips.

PURE COD LIVER OIL
prepared by Lanman & Kemp, it may be said to be an infallible remedy against all affections of the Throat, Chest and Lungs.
For Sale in all Drug Stores.

LANMAN & KEMP'S

Pure Medicinal Cod-Liver Oil. In the diseases leading to consumption, there is no time for experimental trifling. They are swift and often fatal. The cough that is neglected to day may culminate a week hence in pneumonia, or bronchitis, or consumption. There is but one remedy in severe cases of pulmonary disease, whether chronic or of late date. It is—so say the whole medical faculty—the oil expressed from the Liver of the Codfish. But let the patient be sure that he or she has the true remedy. Let that remedy be Lanman & Kemp's Pure Medicinal Cod-Liver oil, and the invalid will have the best possible preparation of the reliable pulmonic known. Lanman & Kemp employ competent agents who reside at the fisheries, and who select for use the sound livers of the finest fish taken on the Banks of Newfoundland. From these the oil is expressed while they are perfectly fresh, and when the process is finished it is transparent as amber crystal. It is the best modern specific in its most efficient state, and has no equal in coughs, colds, asthma, sore throat, inflamation of the lungs or bronchia, debility, emaciation, and all the maladies terminating in consuption and confirmed liver complaint.

Fougera's

Compound Iodinised Cod Liver Oil
Approved by the U. S. Dispensatory
The immeasurable therapeutic superiority of this Oil is due to a combination of Iodine, Bromine and Phosphorus.
Being five times stronger and more active than pure Cod Liver Oil, its employ saves time, money, suffering and life.

May 23rd, 1883

Patacon	25.00
Cedulas A	100⅝
Cedulas E	85½
National Bank Shares	106
Argentine Gas Shares	88

What with the approach of two holidays and the bad weather, the Bolsa wears a very dull aspect, and the ring, though thronged with brokers, is the reverse of active. A turn is expected before the end of the month, and the liquidation, although a small affair may throw some life into speculation. In the absence of operations this morning some betting took place with regard to the upshot of the much discussed petition to Congress to pay up National Bank Shares in full. This petition occupies the attention of the market, and although its failure is anticipated, some importance is attached to it. The probabilities are that Congress will send the petition to the Bank Board, where its fate will be sealed.
Money is freely offered in the market at 9 o/o per annum on shares at 90 o/o, and at 7 o/o per annum on Cedulas of Series E at 75. As the end of the month approaches brokers have already begun to pass operations to June. Discounts are reported easy for certain class of paper, but there is less buoyancy in the market than at the beginning of the month.
There is much dullness in exchange circles, and little is reported doing for the French mail, as it is thought that the Gironde will not get away on the 26th, and operators can fall back on the Humberto, which leaves on Monday. Sterling is quoted at 49½ to 49¾; drawers of francs at 5.15 on Paris, 5.17 on Antwerp, and 4.17 Reichsmark; Rio ex. change at 11$200.
One hundred and thirty thousand Cedulas were sold during official hours. Twenty three thousand changed hands for cash at 85⅝ to ½; thirty two thousand for end of the month at 85⅛ and 85⅜, and seventy five thousand for the end of June at 85⅜-½-¼. The closing prices of official hours shew a drop all along the line, and the stock looks weak.
National Bank Shares have reached a climax of dullness. Operations were effected for cash at 105¾ to 106, with a firm and rising tendency. Fifty shares changed hands for the end of the month at 106½, and fifty more for the end of June at 107. The market is very firm, and holders refuse to let go. Some proposals were made this morning to pass operations over. It looks as if the liquidation will show with a rise in the stock.
Seventy six Argentine Gas Shares were sold in the morning at 88. This stock is finding its way into the market; the quotatinn is firm, and there is demand for the stock as a high interest-paying investment. Gas Shares pay the highest interest in the market.
The Blythewood has arrived in port with a cargo of railway materials for the Buenos Aires Pacific Railway. The company expects the arrival of iron work for bridges and culverts in the Lamport & Holt steamer Galileo. The extension of the line is advancing; as yet the National Goveramnt has not granted the junction with the Andine Railway, which was requested by the Company in the beginning of the month.
The rain has been general throughout the Province; all the lagunas are full, and estancieros devoutly hope that the downpour will cease. In Bahia Blanca it has rained nearly a fortnight, and the camps in the South are very much covered with water.
Messrs. Bullrich and Co., sold off by auction yesterday four squares of land within the Municipal jurisdiction of the town of Bahia Blanca for $200,000 m/c. These lands probably only cost the owner the expenses of the title-deeds. A party last year secured a "chacra" in the vicinity of the town, for which he had applied years ago; the land cost him the title-deed, stamp, etc.; he was offered $50,000 m/c for the property, and he refused to sell under $150,000 m/c. These rates show the gigantic advance of Bahia Blanca, an advance which will be more astonishing yet when the locomotives run from Buenos Aires to that port.
A fashionable party of tourists leave tomorrow morning in a special train of the Southern Railway for Olavarria, they will return on Sunday evening. As there is plenty

Los toros Waterloo Grand Duke y Endimion son los que estan actualmente al servicio de la cabaña; el primero importado de Inglaterra, por el Sr Downce, y el segundo remitido por el Sr Elia, por el cual se nos pago 25,000 ps., siendo uno de los animales quemas han llamado la atencion de los criadores mientras estuvo en nuestra casa y que con sobrada razon escribio el Sr Elia, "que mandaba animales en los cuales tenia la seguridad de perder dinero" probandolo el hecho de no haber repetido sus remesas.

7200 ovejas y carneros Lincoln, siendo una parte de ellos importados expresamente para esta cabaña, de la del Sr Clark en Inglaterra como tambien los padres que las sirven. Estos animales seria demas recomendarlos, pues ningun criador de esta raza en el pais, ha alcanzado los precios obtenidos por esta cabaña.

El area de campo arriba designada situada en el partido de Alvear, a 6 leguas escasas del pueblo del mismo nombre y 10 leguas de los importantes pueblos del Saladillo y 25 de Mayo

Es un campo de muy buena calidad; propio para ovejas, vacas y agricultura; deseando ponerlo al alcance de todas las fortunas, se vendera en dos fracciones de 400 cuadras cada una.

Creemos inutil llamar la atencion de las personas que se dedican a los negocios no campo, sobre esta, aunque pequeña area de campo, pero que por su buena situacion se presta admirablemente ya sea para ovejas y vacas ya para la siembra de toda clase de granos.
